About the Session:About the Presenter(s):*Nathalie Lauriault

Nathalie Lauriault is a teacher in Ontario, Canada. Having taught for 30 years, she has specialized in teaching young children in mostly bilingual classroom settings. Recently she was awarded a grant for the Teacher Learning Leadership Program from the Ministry of Education to do research on Concept-Based Curriculum and Instruction in her classroom. Previously, she served as the Primary Years Programme Coordinator at the Toronto French School and was very involved with the International Baccalaureate of America as a presenter and consultant. She is certified in Concept-Based Curriculum and Instruction by H. Lynn Erickson. She has a bachelor of science degree from the University of Guelph and a bachelor of education from Queen's University in Canada. Nathalie has experience in teaching multi-graded classrooms and will draw on that experience to support the Colony educators in their exploration of teaching through a Concept-Based approach to teaching in their classrooms.
